Information

Chlorophylle Park, a promise of a living forest to explore as a family

The Chlorophylle Park offers a joyful and educational immersion in the heart of the Ardennes forest, between Dochamps and La Roche-en-Ardenne. Here, nature becomes a playground for discovery and wonder. Along a vast forest trail, children and adults move at their own pace, guided by curiosity, the desire to learn and the simple pleasure of playing outdoors.

From the very first steps, the setting sets the tone: fragrant undergrowth, soft light filtering through the leaves and birdsong in the background. Visitors enter a world where the air feels fresher, where time slows down and where the forest reveals its stories in a new way.

A playful walk along forest paths

The trail, about 2.5 km long, is punctuated by 33 wooden attractions designed to capture attention and stimulate the imagination. Interactive games, cabins, giant animal sculptures and educational installations each stage invites visitors to understand the forest while having fun.

Children run, climb, experiment and observe. Adults follow, participate, explain and rediscover. The approach is natural, never academic, allowing everyone to learn without even noticing, simply by exploring.

Walking among the trees, seeing the forest differently

The highlight of the visit is the 200-metre walkway in the treetops. Suspended above the ground, it offers a completely different perspective of the forest, at canopy level. Steps become slower, eyes lift upward and the plant world reveals itself from an unusual viewpoint.

This crossing leaves a strong impression, both for the sensation of height and the peacefulness of the environment. A suspended moment where visitors listen to the wind in the leaves and realise the richness of this living ecosystem.

Play areas to burn off energy in the heart of nature

Throughout the trail, several playground areas allow children to move and play freely. Here, there are no standard playground structures: wood, forest and imagination are at the centre of the experience. Children climb, jump and invent stories, while parents enjoy the peaceful atmosphere of the site.

The park is designed for families, but also for school groups, with a genuine desire to share respect for nature in a playful and practical way.

A forest to experience with all the senses

At Chlorophylle Park, the visit is also sensory. The scents of the forest floor, the freshness of the air, the textures of wood and the play of light between the trunks all contribute to a soothing and immersive atmosphere. Visitors feel far removed from everyday life, fully connected to the environment.

This gentle atmosphere encourages relaxation as much as curiosity. Visitors learn to observe, listen and respect. The forest is no longer just a backdrop, but a living world to understand and protect.

A new feature that renews the experience

The park continues to evolve, with new attractions regularly enriching the trail. A promising invitation for those who enjoy returning and rediscovering the place in a new light, season after season.

Forest, walkways, games, playgrounds, learning and shared enjoyment: Chlorophylle Park brings together everything that makes a successful day out in nature.
