A museum dedicated to the Celts in the heart of the Ardennes: the Celtic Museum of Libramont.

This new exhibition located in the heart of the Ardennes, where the Celts lived some 2500 years ago, invites you to discover the Celts and the heritage they have left us.

You will see, by going through the various aspects of their daily life, that their life was sometimes very close to ours despite the centuries that separate us.

You will find in particular: a relevant selection of archaeological pieces from Libramont, Ardennes, Wallonia and Belgium; objects to make; videos; tales to listen to, a visit booklet for children.

Accessible to people with disabilities.

Welcome to a celtic land !
