The Museum is temporarily closed.

A townhouse built in Regency style in the first half of the 18th century, Hôtel d'Ansembourg is dedicated to 18th-century decorative arts.

The Ansembourg Museum plunges visitors into the life of dignitaries at the time, with a magnificent collection of paintings, tapestries and hangings bringing a bygone age back to life.

The museum possesses a magnificent collection of Liège furniture illustrating the remarkable know-how of 18th-century cabinetmakers.
