Forming part of the Museum Hub, the "Artothèque" arts centre is dedicated to compiling, researching, restoring and studying local heritage and brings together all of the town's collections.

In addition to its conservationist mission, this venue plays a major role in promoting heritage through its public areas.

The "Artothèque" also lifts the veil on disciplines "hidden" in the various museums.

Visitors also benefit from digital access to the collections not exhibited directly on site (handling, exploration, participation and immersion in the collections using new technologies).

The centre's listed architecture and vocation make for a particularly interesting visit.
