The country's most fascinating Exceptional Heritage site (16th – 18th century) could well be mistaken for Versailles!

You will love the harmonious interior and authentic decoration by the Dukes of Beaufort-Spontin and be moved by the legacy of the castle's royal guests, Coffee Treaty of 1675 and history dating back 20 generations.

The intimate gardens (17th – 18th century), panning out in terraces down to the banks of the river Meuse, are an ode to tranquillity. You will be enchanted by the murmuring fountains, 350 year-old sweet-scented orange trees and stunning views. 6 km of little, tree-covered mazes unveil their secrets along the way.

The Rococo Pavilion offers a seductive and refined decor, enhanced by the elegance and simplicity of The Netherlands' oldest orange groves.
