Built underground in 2015 at the foot of the Butte du Lion and in the heart of the battlefield, the new Museum offers a personalised visiting experience thanks to a visit application on the phone and numerous digital and interactive devices.

A giant 33m² model with more than 10,000 figures at 1:72 scale realistically represents the battlefield

The tour continues through the large gallery of more than 70 mannequins in uniform and through the magnificent film by Gérard Corbiau broadcast in 4D audio surround.

The Memorial ticket also gives you access to the gigantic 1912 Panorama canvas and the famous Lion's Mound.

You can also visit the Hougoumont farm, where the terrible fighting took place on 18 June 1815. You will discover the story through an original multimedia show.

In season, from April to October, soldiers in uniform offer entertainment at the foot of the hill: several times a day, rifle shooting, cannon firing, soldier's school and guided tours of the battlefield.

A horse-drawn carriage takes visitors to the Hougoumont farm where our farmer and the animals of the educational farm await them.
